

Jefferson County Department of Emergency Management Presents:

HAM RADIO

TECHNICIAN LICENSE COURSE

JULY
15-16

9-5 Sat., 9-4 Sun.

In an emergency such as a storm or earthquake cell phone service, internet services and land lines are often inoperable or overwhelmed. How would you communicate with your neighbors, or broadcast a call for help? HAM RADIO is the answer and encouraged by emergency management departments everywhere! It is reliable, inexpensive and simple to get started. HAM radio operators are critical to emergency response.

- This course is free with only a $15 fee for the test materials.
- For as little as $34 dollars you can purchase a HAM radio.
- The training is not difficult. You'll learn all you need to know to get on the air in 2 days.
- Hams in your area are eager to help you successfully get on the air.

FREE

INSTRUCTION & LICENSE STUDY GUIDES

ONLY $15.00 Testing Fee

LOCATION:      REGISTRATION:

Clallam County
Sheriff's Detachment
Beaver Sheriff Station
196281 U.S. 101
Forks, WA

Register with your telephone number, mailing address, and email address to:

Lynn Sterbenz,
Director of Emergency Management
lsterbenz@co.jefferson.wa.us

NOTE: This is a Technician License Course, enabling graduates to communicate within their local community. Follow up with a General License Course to connect with people around the globe.

Phone: (360) 385-9368
Fax: (360) 385-9376
81 Elkins Road
Port Hadlock, WA 98339